My Dear Mr. Anderson:

I am sending you four more completed forms. Two of them I took before receiving your last letter.

About interviewing men in the Labor Camps the impression that I have is that they feel more at ease when interviewed in camp. They do not seem to like to answer questions in the street nor do they want to take the time to be interviewed. They tell me that if I go out to the camp they will be glad to answer any questions. Take for example the man that refused to be interviewed in Heber. He said that he would be very glad to answer any questions among his friends at camp. He was the second man that I interviewed at the Martinez camp. Practically all of the men that I have talked to would rather be interviewed at the camp among their friends. In fact I have been invited to the camps by many of the men that buy at Penney's. Just yesterday one of the men that I have already interviewed at the Martinez Camp came into tell me that many of the men are leaving for Mexico and that if I wanted any more interviews I had better visit the Camp sometime this week.

Now about going into the camps. Before I went into the Martinez Camp I got Mr. Martinez's permission, which he gladly granted me. But as you say it will be better to get Mr. Harrigan's O.K. before going into any Camps again, especially if they have NO VISITOR signs all over the place.

The magazines I have been giving out to the men are some that my wife and mother have already read. Last week I also gave out two cartons of cigarettes that somebody lost in the store. This is strictly a charitable gesture in my part to make friends. I do not make any money out of this.

I do think that the changes in the questioner are for the best and that they will get better results.

Looking forward to our next meeting. I remain.

Yours Truly.
